++ Valid for broadcast between 0600 and 1800

Headline:
Showers at first but warm settled weather expected from mid-week.

Today:
Any remaining overnight showers soon easing, then a largely cloudy day with just a few sunny spells. Some isolated sharp showers may develop through the afternoon, especially over Hampshire. Maximum temperature 23 deg C (73 deg F).

Tonight:
Clear spells at first but cloud will soon return inland with most parts cloudy by the early hours. Mainly dry apart from perhaps the odd spot of coastal drizzle. Minimum temperature 14 deg C (57 deg F).

Wednesday:
A cloudy start but largely dry. However, skies will brighten during the morning with some warm afternoon sunshine likely, as well as perhaps an isolated shower. Maximum temperature 24 deg C (75 deg F).

Outlook for Thursday to Saturday:
Largely dry and very warm through this period, with long sunny spells. Mist and low cloud may affect coastal areas, where it will be a little cooler, during the morning.
